FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

similarly situated,

Plaintiffs,

-against-

PLAZA MEXICO, INC., PIRAMIDES MAYAS

Defendants.

09 CIV 5076

Plaintiffs, Teresa Lara Benavidez, Maria de Lourdes Galvez, Jamie Huerta, and Flora Zurita, individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, as class representatives, upon personal knowledge as to themselves and upon information and belief as to other matters, allege as follows:

NATURE OF THE ACTION

1. This lawsuit seeks to recover minimum wages, overtime compensation, spread of hours, and misappropriated tips and unlawful deductions for Plaintiffs and their similarly situated co-workers – servers, bussers, bartenders and other hourly food service workers who have worked at the three Mama Mexico locations in New York and New Jersey owned and operated by: Plaza Mexico Inc., Piramides Mayas Inc., and Mama Mexico Midtown Realty LLC a/k/a the Mama Mexico Restaurants (“Mama Mexico”), high-end Mexican restaurants located in New York and New Jersey.

2. This lawsuit also seeks to recover damages for pregnancy discrimination, sexual harassment, gender discrimination, hostile work environment and battery on behalf of Plaintiffs Teresa Lara Benavidez, Maria de Lourdes Galvez, Jamie Huerta, and Flora Zurita.

3. Mama Mexico owns and operates three Mama Mexico restaurants located in New York City and Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey.

4. Mama Mexico has been recognized by The American Academy of Hospitality Sciences as a five-star restaurant.

5. Mama Mexico’s success, however, comes at the expense of their hourly service workers. Mama Mexico has denied these workers proper minimum wages, overtime compensation, customer gratuities, and reimbursement for uniform expenses and other earned wages. Defendants further created, condoned, and perpetuated a hostile work environment where discrimination, battery, and sexual harassment were commonplace.

6. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and similarly situated current and former Mama Mexico tipped hourly service workers who elect to opt-in to this action pursuant to the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. §§ 201 et seq. (“FLSA”), and specifically, the collective action provision of 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), to remedy violations of the wage-and-hour provisions of the FLSA by Defendants that have deprived Plaintiffs and others similarly situated of their lawfully earned wages.

7. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and all similarly situated current and former Mama Mexico tipped hourly service workers pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23 to remedy violations of the New York Labor Law (“NYLL”) Article 6, §§

190 et seq., and Article 19, §§ 650 et seq., and the supporting New York State Department of Labor regulations.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

100. Plaintiff bring the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Causes of Action, NYLL claims, under Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, on behalf of themselves and a class of persons consisting of all persons who have worked as tipped hourly service workers at Mama Mexico in New York between May 29, 2003 and the date of final judgment in this matter (the "Rule 23 Class").

101. Excluded from the Rule 23 Class are Defendants, Defendants' legal representatives, officers, directors, assigns, and successors, or any individual who has, or who at any time during the class period has had, a controlling interest in Defendants; the Judge(s) to whom this case is assigned and any member of the Judges' immediate family; and all persons who will submit timely and otherwise proper requests for exclusion from the Rule 23 Class.

102. The employees in the Rule 23 Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable.

103. Upon information and belief, the size of the Rule 23 Class is at least 100 individuals. Although the precise number of such employees is unknown, the facts on which the calculation of that number depends are presently within the sole control of Defendants.

104. Defendants have acted or have refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the Rule 23 Class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the Rule 23 Class as a whole.

105. Common questions of law and fact exist as to the Rule 23 Class that predominate over any questions only affecting them individually and include, but are not limited to, the following:

- (a) whether Defendants violated NYLL Article 6, §§190 et seq., and Article 19, §§ 650 et seq., and the supporting New York State Department of Labor regulations, 12

N.Y.C.R.R. Part 137, as alleged herein;

- (b) whether Defendants correctly calculated and compensated Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class for minimum wage and overtime for hours worked in excess of 40 per workweek;
- (c) whether Defendants failed to provide Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class spread of hours compensation as required by the NYLL;
- (d) whether Defendants misappropriated tips from Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class;
- (e) whether Defendants' tip pooling scheme was created through the mutual agreement of Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class;
- (f) whether Defendants failed to keep true and accurate time and pay records for all hours worked by its employees, and other records required by the NYLL;
- (g) whether Defendants failed to comply with the posting and notice requirements of the NYLL;
- (h) whether Defendants failed to furnish Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class with an accurate statement of wages, hours worked, rates paid, gross wages, and the claimed tip allowance as required by the NYLL;
- (i) whether Defendants demanded, handled, pooled, counted, distributed, accepted and/or retained gratuities paid by customers that were intended for Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class and which customers reasonably believed to be gratuities for Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class;
- (j) whether Defendants failed to pay the required minimum amount of call-in pay for all days on which Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class reported for duty;
- (k) whether Defendants made unlawful deductions from the wages of Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class by charging Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class for customers who leave, but fail to pay for their food and/or drinks, for breakages or spoilages, and for uniform-related expenses;
- (l) whether Defendants' policy of failing to pay workers was instituted willfully or with reckless disregard of the law; and
- (m) the nature and extent of class-wide injury and the measure of damages for those injuries.

106. The claims of Plaintiffs are typical of the claims of the Rule 23 Class they seek to represent. Plaintiffs and all the Rule 23 Class members work, or have worked, for Defendants as hourly food service employees at Mama Mexico. Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class members enjoy the same statutory rights under the NYLL to be paid for all hours worked, to be paid overtime wages, and to keep the tips they earn. Plaintiffs and Rule 23 Class members have all sustained similar types of damages as a result of Defendants' failure to comply with the NYLL. Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class members have all been injured in that they have been uncompensated or under-compensated due to Defendants' common policies, practices, and patterns of conduct.

107. Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately represent and protect the interests of the Rule 23 Class members. Plaintiffs have retained counsel competent and experienced in complex class actions and employment litigation. There is no conflict between the Plaintiffs and the Rule 23 Class members.

108. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this litigation. The members of the Rule 23 Class have been damaged and are entitled to recovery as a result of Defendants' violation of the NYLL as well as their common and uniform policies, practices, and procedures. Although the relative damages suffered by individual Rule 23 Class members are not de minimis, such damages are small compared to the expense and burden of individual prosecution of this litigation. The individual Plaintiffs lack the financial resources to conduct a thorough examination of Defendants' timekeeping and compensation practices and to prosecute vigorously a lawsuit against Defendants to recover such damages. In addition, class litigation is superior because it will obviate the need for unduly duplicative litigation that might result in inconsistent judgments about Defendants' practices.

109. This action is properly maintainable as a class action under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23(b)(3).

COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

110. Plaintiffs bring the First and Second Causes of Action, FLSA claims, on behalf of themselves and all similarly situated persons who have worked as hourly service workers at Mama Mexico Restaurants who elect to opt-in to this action (the “FLSA Collective”).

111. Defendants are liable under the FLSA for, inter alia, failing to properly compensate Plaintiffs. Upon information and belief, there are many similarly situated current and former employees of Defendants who have been underpaid in violation of the FLSA and who would benefit from the issuance of a court-supervised notice of the present lawsuit and the opportunity to join the present lawsuit. Those similarly situated employees are known to Defendants, are readily identifiable, and can be located through Defendants’ records. Notice should be sent to the FLSA Collective pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b).

CLASS-WIDE FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

112. Plaintiffs and the members of the Rule 23 Class and the FLSA Collective (collectively “Class Members”) have been victims of Defendants’ common policy and plan that has violated their rights under the FLSA and the NYLL by denying them a proper minimum wage, overtime compensation, spread of hours, tips, and other wages. At all times relevant, Defendants’ unlawful policy and pattern or practice has been willful.

113. As part of their regular business practice, Defendants have intentionally, willfully, and repeatedly harmed Plaintiffs and the Class Members by engaging in a pattern, practice, and/or policy of violating the FLSA and/or the NYLL as described in this Class Action Complaint. This policy and pattern or practice includes, but is not limited to the following:

114. Defendants denied Plaintiffs and the Class Members tips that they earned.

115. Defendants redistributed portions of the tips earned by Plaintiffs and the Class Members to employees not entitled to receive tips, including but not limited to managers, who had the power to hire and fire.

116. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the Class Members time and a half for all hours worked over forty in a work week in violation of the FLSA and the NYLL.

117. Defendants failed to keep accurate and adequate records of wages paid to Plaintiffs and the Class Members, deductions taken from their wages, allowances or other credits taken by Defendants, gratuities, and hours worked by Plaintiffs and the Class Members as required by the FLSA and the NYLL.

118. Defendants failed to comply with the posting and/or notice requirements of the FLSA and the NYLL.

119. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the Class Members at least at the applicable minimum hourly wage rate and overtime rate under the FLSA and the NYLL for hours worked.

120. Defendants failed to pay Plaintiffs and the Class Members spread-of-hours compensation.

121. Defendants made unlawful deductions from the wages of Plaintiffs and the Class Members, including but not limited to deductions for uniform-related expenses, breakages, customer walkouts and mistakes.

122. Defendants demanded, collected, received, retained, pooled, handled, counted, and held customer tips that Plaintiffs and the Class Members earned, and redistributed them to employees not entitled to receive them (the "Tip Pooling Policy").

123. Defendants unilaterally implemented the Tip Pooling Policy.

124. The Tip Pooling Policy was not voluntary on the part of Plaintiffs and the Class Members.

125. The Tip Pooling Policy, inter alia, deprived Plaintiffs and the Class Members of the time value of their tips.

126. Upon information and belief, Defendants' unlawful conduct described in this Complaint has been pursuant to a corporate policy or practice of minimizing labor costs and denying employees compensation by knowingly violating the FLSA and NYLL.

127. Defendants' unlawful conduct has been widespread, repeated, and consistent. Upon information and belief, Defendants' policies and practices described in this Class Action Complaint were centrally promulgated and uniform.

128. Defendants' unlawful conduct, as set forth in this Class Action Complaint, has been intentional, willful, and in bad faith, and has caused significant damages to Plaintiffs and the Class Members.

129. Defendants' deceptive conduct prevented Plaintiffs and the Class Members from discovering or asserting their claims any earlier than they did.

PLAINTIFF'S FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

130. Consistent with their policies and patterns or practices as described herein, Defendants harmed Plaintiffs individually as follows:

For example, in order to receive a meal at break time, the women would be forced to make coffee for Miguel Rojas. The male employees were not required to make coffee in order to receive meals. In addition, Miguel Rojas would yell and scream at the women, saying things such as "women are only good for one thing, being in bed."

142. Jose Lombardi, a manager at Mama Mexico would yell at the female hourly service workers, "I don't like to work with women, they cry too much, I don't care about their

143. On or about January 2009, Ms. Benavidez informed Jose Lombardi, a manager at Mama Mexico that she was pregnant. Soon thereafter, Ms. Benavidez was unable to lift heavy objects, due to the pregnancy. Ms. Benavidez asked for a reasonable accommodation- to work as a bartender instead of a busser, because it was a less physically demanding job. In April 2009, Ms. Benavidez trained to be a bartender and was fully able to perform the duties of that job. However, defendants refused to accommodate Ms. Benavidez and intentionally assigned her to positions where she would be forced to lift heavy objects and she was constructively discharged from her employment on May 5, 2009.

148. Defendants unlawfully redistributed part of Ms. Galvez’s tips to employees in positions that do not customarily and regularly receive tips and to agents of Defendants.

149. Defendants imposed upon Ms. Galvez a tip redistribution or sharing scheme to which she never agreed.

150. Upon information and belief, Defendants did not keep accurate records of wages or tips earned, or of hours worked by Ms. Galvez.

151. Defendants unlawfully deducted from Ms. Galvez's wages for customer walkouts, breakages and mistakes.

152. Defendants did not compensate Ms. Galvez for the cleaning, care, and maintenance of the uniforms it required her to wear.

153. Defendants did not pay Ms. Galvez the required minimum amount of call-in pay for all days on which she reported for duty.

154. During the course of her employment, defendant Miguel Rojas would demean and insult the female hourly service workers. For example, in order to receive a meal at break time, the women would be forced to make coffee for Miguel Rojas. The male employees were not required to make coffee in order to receive meals. In addition, Miguel Rojas would yell and scream at the women, saying things such as "women are only good for one thing, being in bed." Rojas also threatened to "burn" Galvez on more than one occasion.

155. Jose Lombardi, a manager at Mama Mexico would yell at the female hourly service workers, "I don't like to work with women, they cry too much, I don't care about their problems." Lombardi would also refer to the Plaintiffs and other female employees as "chicken heads," a derogatory reference for a promiscuous female which implies certain sex acts.

156. During the course of her employment, defendant Vincente Rojas would tell Ms. Galvez, "you are getting fat and chubby," and you are going to "break the floor." Furthermore, as Vincente Rojas was insulting Ms. Galvez, he would touch her face.

JAMIE HUERTA

157. Defendants did not pay Ms. Huerta the proper minimum wage, overtime wage and spread of hours pay for all of the time that she was suffered or permitted to work each workweek.

164. Defendants unlawfully deducted from Ms. Huerta's wages for customer walkouts, breakages and mistakes.

165. Defendants did not compensate Ms. Huerta for the cleaning, care, and maintenance of the uniforms it required her to wear.
